Army of the German Crown Prince Resumes the Offensive in the Argonne.

French Line Temporarily Bent by the Onslaughts is Restored by Counter-attacks—Archduke Ferdinand to Preside Over an Important Council of War at Cracow.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PARIS, July 13, 10:35 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the War Office today:

"In Belgium the Germans, in bombarding the French and British lines, have made use of asphyxiating shells. In the region to the north of Arras the cannoneers have been particularly violent. Further material damage to Arras is reported. There was no infantry action during the course of the day.

"In the Argonne the army of the German Crown Prince has resumed the offensive from the road between Binerville and Vienne le Chateau as far as the region of Haute Chavanne, and has suffered a new check. After a very violent bombardment and a barrier fire with asphyxiating shells the enemy attacked with heavy forces, five different regiments of the Sixteenth Corps having already been identified.

"At certain points where our line had momentarily been bent, energetic counter-attacks by us stopped the progress of the enemy and compelled his retirement. Between the Meuse and the Moselle the cannoneers continued, particularly in the forest of Apremont and Le Preire forest, where the Germans, after the check of a new attempt last night, have not renewed their attacks.

"Between Fay-en-Haye and the forest we have gained ground and in engagements with grenades in the tunnels.

WAR COUNCIL AT CRACOW.
(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)
GENEVA (Switzerland), July 13 (via Paris, 2 p.m.)—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: "Archduke Ferdinand is expected today at Cracow to preside over a war council.

"Within the next few days the Austrians cannot stop the victorious Russian advance the whole front will retreat. Since the loss of the positions south of Lublin the revolutionizing of the armies has become impossible. Large Austrian reinforcements have been carried to the province of Lublin, but the Russians, though fighting against superior forces, continue advancing.

MOBILIZING OF INVENTORS APPROVED AT WASHINGTON

Daniels' Idea of Board Headed by Thomas A. Edison for Working Out New Plans to Increase Efficiency of Navy Believed to be Move in Right Direction. Other Names to be Added to List.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Mobilization of the inventive genius of the country to aid in working out naval problems, as proposed by Secretary Daniels, was widely discussed today by officials of both the army and navy, and the selection of Thomas A. Edison as head of the civilian advisory board, met with unanimous approval.

Mr. Edison, however, consented to take up the task presented to him as a patriotic duty, Secretary Daniels now is preparing to invite others among noted inventors, scientists and engineers to join in the work. He would not say yes or no to a dozen names suggested to him, declaring he would make known the other members of the advisory board only after their acceptance had been received.

"As I stated in my letter to Mr. Edison," said the Secretary in a statement issued tonight, "I am not as yet prepared to announce the full details of the plan; these must be worked out in conference with the various bureaus and the details perfected so as to insure successful operation."

"An informal conference with the chiefs of the bureaus of ordnance, steam engineering and construction and repair, was held this morning, and I expect to be able to announce the organization in a more definite way in a very short time.

"The country does not know the far-reaching and experimental work done by Admiral Grifflin, and the details have for months been studying every new development brought out by the war in Europe, and already they have contributed to increased naval efficiency. They will be given additional experts to carry on the development work they have been doing with ability and success.

"The selection of the members of the Advisory Committee requires careful thought, but I hope to announce them shortly.

"With Mr. Edison so willingly and cheerfully responding to my request, I feel sure that the advisory committee, when the names of all the scientists who composed of men of such prominence as to make the country feel that what it is possible for the human mind to devise will be devised for our navy. By the creation of this machinery no suggestion will be overlooked. Ideas impracticable in their details, but which contain the germ of possible revolutionary improvement, will be scrutinized both by our own naval experts and by men whose brains are particularly fitted for detecting possibilities in suggestions of this kind."

NAMES SUGGESTED.

"Among the names suggested to Mr. Daniels as possible members of the new board were those of Charles P. Steinmetz, one of the country's authorities on electrical engineering; Hudson Maxim, inventor and maker of guns and explosives; Orville Wright, one of the world's leading experts in aeroplanes; Lewis Nixon, shipbuilder and former naval officer; Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone; John Hays Hammond, Jr., and R. A. Fessenden, radio communication experts; J. B. Walker, editor of a scientific magazine and an inventor of note, and a score of others, many of them former naval officers now in private life.

From Rear-Admirals Taylor, Strauss and Griffin, the Secretary today sought opinion as to how his plan could be given the greatest value. He will discuss the situation also with his recently created advisory council when it meets next Thursday. Attention was called today to an act of Congress prohibiting the acceptance by the government of voluntary services, and there is no provision for remuneration for the proposed board, it was suggested that law might prove an obstacle to the acceptance of the advisory board only after their acceptance had been received.

The Great War.

Statement By Wilson.

to give warning to belligerent merchantmen, thus enabling crews to be transferred to ships in case of destruction of a vessel as a prize is determined upon. Consul-General Washington at Liverpool today reported such an instance.

The American ship Normandy was approached by a German submarine, the commander examined the ship's papers and allowed her to proceed, notwithstanding that the vessel carried a cargo of lumber, which is on the German contraband list. The Normandy's crew later rescued three Americans who were aboard the Russian ship Leo, which was sunk. Officials here could not determine from the meager advice whether the Americans had been aboard the Leo when she was attacked and took to their small boats, or whether they were first removed to the Normandy before the belligerent ship was destroyed.

In any event this and other instances in the last two weeks are regarded here as evidence of the fact that the German submarine commander probably had no intention of saving passengers and crews before destroying the vessels. The view in the American government is that if the present policy of the German submarine commanders is continued the next note of the United States, with its emphatic assertion of an intention to exercise neutral rights, will not necessarily lead to a break between the two countries. There are some officials, however, who think that the present situation as merely a truce during the pendency of the negotiations, and who are not so confident that Germany has entirely abandoned her previous practices to which the United States objects.

FAVORS BREAK WITH GERMANY.

EX-SENATOR EDMUNDS WRITES TO THE PRESIDENT.

Former Prominent Republican, Who Served Long in Congress, Asks that Our Ambassador be Recalled and the Kaiser's Representative be Given His Passports.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

PARADENA, July 13.—Advocating the withdrawal of the American Ambassador from Berlin and the handing of his passports to the German Ambassador at Washington, former Senator George Franklin Edmunds, No. 841 South Orange Grove avenue, today sent to President Wilson a letter of comment on the latest German note.

Ex-Senator Edmunds, who is 87 years old, was formerly one of the prominent figures in the Republican party. He was a member of the United States Senate from 1886 to 1891, when he resigned. During the Presidency of George Arthur, he was leader of the Senate on the Republican side, and was President pro tem. He is the author of many important laws, including the Edmunds Act, which was passed March 22, 1882, for the suppression of polygamy in Utah and the disfranchisement of those who practiced it. He was also author of the Anti-Trust Law of 1890.

The communication to President Wilson is as follows:

"The German reply to your second protest and remonstrance against the inhuman and barbaric destruction by submarines of the lives of many peaceful citizens of our country, as well as those of the civilian citizens and subjects of countries against which Germany is carrying on an aggressive war having been at last received, I beg to say that the 91 per cent, as I think, of the grown-up and intelligent people of our country who have gladly supported your efforts to bring about a cessation of the horrors of so-called civilized warfare and to defend our citizens in the exercise of the long-established rights of the United States, are now in a position to express their opinion, in substance an attempt to justify, or else to evade responsibility for all the slaughter of our civilian citizens which it has knowingly committed. Thus, the most grave situation plainly stated in your communication remains just what it was.

"We are not the only nation which is so full of 'kultur,' and, therefore, as it thinks, so logical, I should suppose that it was trying upon you Fabian or Chinese tactics which I feel most strongly this nation should resent.

"Let us then cease futile correspondence and withdraw our Ambassador and send to the German Ambassador his passport.

"I am an old man, and have from long before this war publicly won the respect of the entire Peace Society, but I can no longer endure the awful spectacle without an expression of my opposition to further discussion under present circumstances.

Very respectfully yours,

Shipping Trade.

SHIPPING TRADE MUCH CONFUSED.

Japanese Government Order Revokes Contracts.

Philippine Freight Shortage is now Accentuated.

Chartering Special Steamers Only Means of Relief.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Serious confusion in the entire shipping trade of the Far East was reported today by Consul-General George E. Anderson, at Hongkong, to have resulted from the order of the Japanese government reserving for Japanese shippers all space on ships operated by the Japanese subsidized trans-Pacific lines.

Under this order, the Consul-General said, all space in the Japanese ships heretofore allotted to shippers at Hongkong, Shanghai and Kelung, Formosa, having merchandise for the United States now is withheld, and all contracts and agreements made with non-Japanese shippers for space during June and July are revoked, even stevedore passenger space being taken over for Japanese use, and arrangements for space in August are being made with the possibility of the extension of the order in view.

"While in the trade there are stories of all sorts of ulterior motives on the part of the interests concerned, said the report, there is in fact no reason to ascribe any other motive than that given. It is of extreme importance to Japanese manufacturers and exporters that Japan's products pass most freely and promptly to the United States at this time, and the Japanese government is using the advantage it has in possession to secure the most favorable terms for its products.

According to Mr. Anderson, the restriction will accentuate the freight shortage in the Philippine trade, and will still further delay thousands of tons of freight now up in Hongkong, Shanghai and South China ports. Chartering special steamers is the only means of relief, although the Consul-General declares it is not certain that any such vessels are available.

BIGGEST LOAN IN HISTORY.

NEARLY THREE BILLIONS IS SUBSCRIBED BY BRITISH.

Reginald McKenna Declares this Vast Amount Which is Beyond Anything Which has been Known Before in the World was Made Possible by Patriotism of People.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, July 13.—It was officially announced today that the subscription to the great British war loan reached a total of almost £600,000,000 ($3,000,000,000).

The total subscription amounted to close to $3,000,000,000, according to the statement made by Reginald McKenna, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons today. The total number of subscribers through the Bank of England was 550,000, whose contributions aggregated $2,350,000,000.

The subscription through the post office have not yet closed, but up to date 547,000 persons have subscribed $75,000,000 through this channel. Mr. McKenna pointed out that the figure of the subscription to the war loan is a reflection of the patriotism of the British people, and that the subscription is a reflection of the patriotism of the British people.

"This gigantic total," continued Mr. McKenna, "represents only new money. It does not include any stock which will be issued for the purposes of conversion.

"This huge sum of nearly $3,000,000,000, added to the £1,000,000,000 amount subscribed in the history of the world—has only been obtained by the patriotic response of the whole people. It is a reflection of the patriotism of the British people, and that the subscription is a reflection of the patriotism of the British people.

PANTS MAKERS' STRIKE SPREADS.

UNION LEADERS ARE CALLED UPON TO AID CAUSE IN NEW YORK.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

NEW YORK, July 13.—An important development today in the local strike of 10,000 pants makers was the announcement that Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, who is directing matters here, had sent telegrams to the principal clothing centers in the country detailing the course of the strike here, and calling on the union leaders to hold themselves in readiness for united action. The telegrams were addressed to the unions affiliated with the Amalgamated organization in Baltimore, Chicago, St. Louis, Rochester and Cincinnati, whose membership aggregates 250,000 persons.

The pants makers' strike here was called because, it has been stated, their demands for better sanitary shop conditions and increased wages were refused by the manufacturers.

Militia Committee Recommends that the National Guard be Developed to the Full Limit of Efficiency and that Military Service be Made Aim of Athletics.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The development of the National Guard to the full limit of efficiency, making it serve as an effective school for officers; a course of study in the public schools calling attention to the need of public service; sports and physical drill for school children; a theoretical training in the art of maneuvers as a part of the college curriculum; an official classification of all those fitted for military enrollment; and a requirement of some military duty from all persons between 16 and 45 years of age, are among the matters urged in the report issued today by the Militia Committee of the National Security League. The committee has just concluded its investigation of the military needs of the United States, and the best method of supplying them, insofar as they relate to the State militia.

The better judgment of all those who join in this report, according to the statement issued by the committee, "is against efforts to give military instruction to the children of America in the public schools."

Physical training and many sports, it states, should be a prominent feature of child education, but the report does not embrace all persons liable to militia duty, the committee recommends. The object of these measures, it says, should be to prepare properly the citizen for the war, when required, a greater army and navy may be more speedily created.

CHEER CANADA'S PREMIER.

Sir Robert B. Borden Says Dominion Regards the War as Her Own in House of Commons.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, July 13.—Four days before the war broke out, I telegraphed to the imperial government that if there were war, Canada would regard it as her own," Sir Robert B. Borden, the Premier of Canada, told a cheering audience at a luncheon given in the House of Commons in his honor this afternoon.

The Canadian Premier declared that for all purposes the resources of the British empire were abundant and that the empire could congratulate itself on the condition of affairs today.

"I have no fear for the future though the struggle may be long," Sir Robert said. "In whatever is necessary to bring the war to an honorable conclusion, Canada is prepared to take part. This is true of the whole empire."

Premier Borden went on to say that it was impossible to believe that the democracies of the empire, though unprepared, would not prove their efficiency in this grave peril. After peace was established, he said, there would be large matters for consideration of the dominions, but the difficulty of the situation was not a matter of doubt. He hoped that the result of the upheaval would be the welding of the empire in unbreakable bonds.

A drink of chilling, bubbling Clicquot Club is as refreshing as a cooling, drenching shower. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale can be safely enjoyed when you are overheated. The ginger offers a mild stimulus which neutralizes the "ice cold" shock to the stomach. Clicquot is real ginger ale, made with ginger, juices of lemons and limes and sweetened with refined sugar, not saccharin. The mildly laxative water is from a deep, pure spring. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale is an excellent summer drink for women and children. It is splendid by itself, and a splendid basis for mixing with all sorts of other ingredients.

Queretero Captured.

Mr. Lorente exhibited his diploma from San Jose, as proof that the telegram through Aguascalientes was not interrupted, which would not be the case if in the hands of hostile forces.

Queretero is regarded as a strong strategic point, one of the positions most easily defended on the approach to Mexico City from the north. It was the site of the battle in which the power of Maximilian was broken. The hill which was executed at the foot of the hill which was defended and lost by his forces.

ORDER IN THE CAPITAL.
Restoration of normal conditions in Mexico City by the newly-established Carranza authorities is going forward rapidly, according to advices to the State Department today. Reopening of the cable from Mexico City to Vera Cruz was announced in a message received from Consul-General Shanks at the capital and from Vera Cruz.

Carranza in a message to his Washington agents tonight telling of the capture of Mexico City stated that he had sent to the capital by special train all the personnel for the departments of the Treasury, Interior and Postoffice; that his government was engaged in sending provisions to the city and that "ample guarantee" would be given to everybody, whether native or foreign.

With the reopening of the cable details of the fighting around Mexico City and its evacuation by the Zapata forces are beginning to be received. A dispatch to the State Department from the Brazilian Minister dated July 11 was summarized by the department in this statement: "After a prolonged resistance, as far as their ammunition permitted them to make, the Conventionists have been recaptured by Carranza troops."

After a prolonged resistance, as far as their ammunition permitted them to make, the Conventionists have been recaptured by Carranza troops. The Carranzistas, the department's statement added, "are said to be now peacefully occupying the city and a decree of amnesty has been published which, it is said, will greatly contribute to a calm spirit and to the conservation of order. It is stated that the banks and stores remain closed until a decision is reached as to the circulation of paper money. The water supply has been cut."

Latest information from Mexico City telling of the driving of the Zapata forces from the outlying districts declared the waterworks had been recaptured by Carranza troops. Consul-General Shanks in his report said that 10,000 bushels of sack corn and all sorts of bulky food were needed. The milk supply in the city, he said, was inadequate.

VILLA'S ARMS.
While Carranza's soldiers control the capital, reports from Northern Mexico say Villa is pressing southward with a large expeditionary force. Conflicting reports were received regarding the situation at Piedras Negras. Carranza's agents have announced that it had been evacuated by Villa's forces early today while Villa's report steadfastly asserted that Carranza's troops were at Piedras Negras, had been heard from there this afternoon.

A dispatch dated today from Piedras Negras to the Villa agency here said Gen. Raoul Madero had sent word from Piedras that he defeated the Carranza forces completely at that point yesterday, driving them to Villa Garza. Madero claimed his opponents lost 150 dead and 120 wounded.

DIRECT ADVICES.
Mexico City, July 12 (via Galveston, Tex., July 12).—The outlying suburbs of the Federal capital were cleared today of Zapata troops by forces under Gen. Cos. The waterworks were recaptured and a partial resumption of street car service was made possible. Heavy fighting in the neighborhood of Talpam and Ajusco still is in progress with the forces of Zapata retreating.

The main body of Gen. Carranza's forces has not yet entered the city, but Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, commanding the Carranza troops, has issued a proclamation from the suburbs granting amnesty to all who will surrender and lay down their arms within thirty days. He also guarantees the life and property of foreigners and Mexicans.

Alfredo Machuca, a former Governor of the State of Hidalgo, is now in charge of the National Palace. The City Council turned over its authority to him late yesterday afternoon.

Marie Radziwill.
BERLIN (via London) July 13, 2:46 a.m.—Princess Marie Radziwill, widow of Prince Albert, former head of the Russian house, and adjutant to Emperor William I, is dead at her Klein's palace in Lower Silesia. She was 75 years old. The grandson of Princess Radziwill and the count head of the house, Prince Albert Antoine Radziwill, married Dorothy Deacon of Boston in 1910.

MISSOURI OLEO CRUSADE.
ST. LOUIS, July 13.—A State-wide crusade against the sale of colored oleomargarine in Missouri was begun here today by F. H. Frick, State pure food inspector, who dug up a forgotten statute, and upon it applied to the local Prosecuting Attorney for warrants against thirty-eight St. Louis dealers.

TO BAN CONVICT LEASES.
MONTGOMERY (Ala.) July 13.—Characterizing the convict-lease system of Alabama as a cancer, the Meritt legislative investigating committee today recommended that all convict leases be abrogated January 1, 1916, and that the convict after that date be worked on the public highways and State farms.

SHIPPER-HANDLING CHARGES.

Shippers and Longshoremen of Portland Will Get Together for Purpose of Equalizing the Rates.

PORTLAND (Or.) July 13.—Representatives of the shipping organizations of Portland and of the longshoremen's organizations will meet in Portland within a few days to try to adjust the matter of equalizing freight handling charges on the water front here with those in other Pacific Coast cities. Agents of steamship lines operating out of the Columbia, and a committee of shippers, T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's Union; John Keane, president of the Pacific Coast division of that union; and Andy Madsen, its secretary, will be present. The Portland hearing is a continuation of the six weeks' session that has been on in Seattle. It is expected the results of the Coast conference will be made known at the close of the Portland meeting. Portland shippers contend that now they are paying more for the handling of cargo than any port on the Pacific Coast.

NEW AVIATION STATION.

School for Training Young Men and an Armory Will Be Established at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—Following a conference with Maj. J. Dickinson, field secretary of the Navy League of the United States, Albert Bond Lambert announced last night that an aviation station and armory to train young men in aviation would be established on the Mississippi River here. Lambert is the St. Louis head of the United States Aviation Reserve Corps.

Maj. Dickinson is in St. Louis to arouse interest in support of a bigger navy program. This afternoon at a public reception in Maj. Dickinson's honor a plan will be announced for the State-wide organization of the Navy League of Missouri.

SAYS GERMANY QUIBBLES.

Argentine Newspaper Declares America Cannot Give in as it has Sympathies of World.

BUENOS AIRES, July 13.—El Dia, commenting on the German reply to the American note, says: "Germany, instead of answering the American note squarely, slips between 'distinctions' (qualifications). The neutral countries want not only the established laws respected, but also the human laws."

"Germany's attitude excites the antipathy of the neutrals and prepares the way for a coalition of all the countries which have been wronged. The United States cannot give in. It has on its side the sympathies of the world."

RAILROAD MEN TO GET REWARD

Will Get Their Jobs Back in England After War.

Agitator Worried by Women Worker Problem.

Convinced that New Element has Come to Stay.

(A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.)

LONDON, June 25.—The British Ministry has promised the National Union of Railwaymen that at the end of hostilities the railwaymen serving the armed forces will obtain jobs equal to those they gave up. At the same time, J. H. Thomas, M. P., secretary of the union, says he is extremely uneasy over the problem of women railway workers. In a speech at a meeting of the men in Nottingham, he said:

"I am profoundly convinced that you have to face the fact that female labor has come to stay. Therefore, we have got to make up our minds to one of two things. First, what grades would it be dangerous for female labor to be engaged in; second, whatever grades they work in, they must not be used as a means for reducing the status of the men."

According to the speaker, there are certain classes of railway work which women are unable to perform, and women are not proving satisfactory in all the positions that have been opened for them.

In short, there were two courses open to the unions—either to refuse to allow the experiment of women workers altogether, as has been done in some places by the street car men, or to devote the union's energies to insisting upon the maintenance of the standard of wages. Most of the speakers favored the latter procedure, urging that "while the trade unionist cannot, without stultifying his own principles, protect against female labor, he has every right to protest against female labor, which is merely cheap labor under an alias, and it is in the interest of the country that he should so protest."

The only government department which has taken any wholesale effort to avail itself of the large amount of female labor at its disposal to take the place of men in military service is the postoffice. The postoffice now has 1000 new women employees in the various branches of its work throughout the country.

IN POSTOFFICE.
Of the 170,000 men employed by the postoffice before the war, 37,000 have joined the army. In the rural districts women have been employed in a limited number of positions for some years past; they have now been introduced into some of the small towns and cities. Other places which are being opened to women are those of the mail sorters and messengers. Girl telegraph messengers, mounted on bicycles, are gradually taking the place of their male messengers, and great deal of the postoffice's telegraph work is being done by young women. Women clerks and messengers have been introduced for the first time into the London general postoffice.

On the authority of a high postal official, it is stated that the reports from all quarters are to the effect that the work of the women who have been engaged to replace men has been extremely well done. "They work quickly and accurately, and they are very conscientious," says one report.

Women letter carriers will be seen in the suburban districts of London within a few weeks. Candidates for these posts have already been called for from the government labor exchanges.

Women are as common a sight in English fields now as in the continental countries. Over 150,000 male farm laborers have enlisted in the army and caused a grave shortage. Farmers complain of the scarcity of labor and say that they have suffered from recruiting all they can bear. As the local food supply was never so important as now, they have even asked for the release of soldiers for farm work.

This request has been granted by the War Office for the harvesting of the grain crops, but for that only.

which was authorized by a royal decree June 7, continue to come in most satisfactorily, but Italian financiers say, owing to the possible length of the war, other loans are foreseen which government officials prefer should be voluntary.

It has been suggested that a forced loan be resorted to if difficulty is encountered in raising sufficient money; in which case the forced loan would be remitted in proportion to the income of every citizen above a certain sum.

ELECTRIC WIRE ALONG FRONTIER.
BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. THE HAGUE (via London) July 13.—Reports received from the Belgian-Dutch frontier are to the effect that many persons are being killed by a high voltage of electric wire fence which has been constructed by the Germans along the entire border. Every morning, it is asserted, there are found from half a dozen to a dozen charged bodies of Belgian peasants, including women and children, who, during the night, had attempted to cross the fence and were electrocuted.

BRITISH ARMY NEEDS 'EM ALL.
THOSE PREVIOUSLY REJECTED MAY BE USED FOR HOME DEFENSE.
BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P. BIRMINGHAM (Eng.) July 13.—The recruiting authorities in Birmingham have received a communication from the war office instructing them to invite men who were previously rejected for army service because of weak eyesight, bad teeth or slight physical defects, again to submit themselves for medical examination. In the future, men belonging to sound will not be rejected by the re-

PALE BEAUTY FADES.
The girl who comes home from school or shop tired out every day may be beautiful but she will soon fade. She will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown because the ease with which she tires is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning of the blood that cannot be disregarded.

Thin blood may give an attractive pallor for a short time but soon the patient becomes thin, flat-chested, haggard and angular. The only beauty that endures is that of rich, red blood shining through a transparent skin.

Almost any girl can build up her blood by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are useful to growing girls, to pale girls, thin girls and those who get tired or out of breath easily. Mothers of such girls should see to it that the tendency to anemia is checked by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills before the trouble becomes chronic.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will build up the blood if anything will. They are free from opiates or harmful drugs and can be taken with perfect safety by anyone. ## DIFFICULT WORK FOR CANADIANS.

THEIR TASKS AT THE FRONT DE- TAILED IN REPORT OF SIR MAX AITKEN.

OTTAWA (Ont.) July 13.—A portion of the latest report by Sir Max Aitken, official observer with the Canadian troops at the front, given out today, covers the operations of the Canadian division since the battle of St. Julien and throughout the month of May. It is a record of hard work in the trenches and gives instances of courage and resourcefulness in attack.

When two companies of the Sixteenth Battalion, on the evening of May 16, were ordered to attack "the orchard" they advanced steadily, the report states, through a torrent of shrapnel, rifle and machine gun fire. As they reached "the orchard" they encountered a deep, wet ditch, backed by a hedge, but without hesitation they plunged through the ditch and negotiated the gaps in the hedge.

On the same evening the Tenth Battalion attempted to capture a German fortified position which the British intelligence department had named Bexhill, but the attack failed. The leading files of the front company were all shot down, and the battalion retired. Early on the morning of May 14, however, Bexhill was taken.

Up to this time, Sir Max says, the losses of the Second Brigade of the Canadians amounted to fifty-five officers and 980 men.

ROME, July 13 (via Paris).—Subscriptions to the new Italian war loan,

The great North Broadway reinforced concrete bridge over the Los Angeles River—a representative type of bridge construction in Southern California.

The strength, solidity and durability of this great concrete structure is symbolic of the strength, soundness and usefulness of Title Insurance and Trust Company—the leading fiduciary institution of the Southwest.

—"to err is human"

The fact that under certain conditions a man has proven himself judicious and trustworthy, does not argue that his judgment is infallible. "To err is human." When you submit the administration of your estate to an individual executor, you are gambling on the uncertain "human element."

Title Insurance and Trust Company, as your executor and administrator, will render a service entirely impersonal, untouched by human prejudice and incompetency.

You can know that the provisions of your Will will be carried out with unerring accuracy—not merely according to the interpretation of an individual trustee. Call or write for our booklet, "Life and Property."

WAR'S ONLY ROMANCE IS FOUND BEHIND THE LINES.

No Longer Does Glamour Gild Slaughter's Horror, but the Tangled Skeins of Families and Fortunes in Overturned Europe will Furnish a Decade of Fiction Plots—Brilliant Men Wallowing in the Trenches.

BY WILD IRWIN.
(SPECIAL FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.)

NORTHERN FRANCE, June 14.—For at least a generation, I suppose, no one will have the supreme nerve to write romance about the operations of this war. A few generations hence, when time has made us forget some of its plain slaughter and dirt and horror, the romanticists may be busy with it, as they are busy now with the Napoleonic wars. Some of the brilliant young men now wallowing about in the trenches, caring little at present whether or no a bullet comes to end their misery, may take their pens in hand and turn it into realistic fiction after the fashion of Zola's "La Débâcle." But not romance—no, thank you!

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo.—"I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine. It advertised itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Now on the fringes of the war zone there are hundreds of young children in the same situation as "Mona." They are the pets of French hospitals; they have been handed over to orphan asylums; they are in the care of humane French people who found them and have not the heart to give them up. Some are probably orphans, indeed—their mothers have fallen in the sudden shell fire which devastated the villages during the first German advance, or have died of privation along the roads. For some frantic mothers are still searching through all the perils and delays and prohibitions of the war zone.

Then there are the separated families. This is more common and in its way just as distressing. None knows how thoroughly and effectually Belgium and Northern France are shut off from any ordinary communication with the allied nations.

For a type of the common situation, take "madame," the highly admirable and charming Frenchwoman who manages one of the larger hotels here in the absence of her husband, who is fighting with the territorials near Arras. Madame comes from Lille, and she is a little more than a state of war. Then the line was sealed before Lille. Since then neither mother nor daughter has heard a word of the other.

FAMILIES TORN APART. Again, a Belgian woman came into town a few days ago upon a matter of business. She was visiting in Ghent when the Germans came; but she lived in Brussels. Like so many other people, she believed that the Germans would not try to occupy Brussels, but would push into France by the eastern route. When she woke up it was too late. The Germans took her and her children into England. Her parents and her sisters are still in Brussels, and she has no word. She has a letter from her mother, and he is fighting on the Yser with the Belgian army. These are but commonplace of life by the line nowadays.

I met a Belgian officer the other day whose story is a little peculiar among these tales of separation. He lives, or did live, in Antwerp. Before the war he was worth a matter of $200,000 or $300,000. Probably just at present he is not worth a cent. When the war came his regiment was sent to stop the German machine at Liege. When the Belgians felt back his regiment was not among those which defended Antwerp—they were told off to harass the German advance through Southern Flanders.

Antwerp fell and, naturally, he was anxious about his wife and his three young children. He received news at last that just before the fall of the city she had taken the children and fled to Ostend, then fled from Germany, and the intention of sailing for England. Then Ostend fell. They had friends in England. He felt sure that she would report to them. He managed to get a short leave of absence for the purpose of looking for her. He crossed to England.

She had come and gone. A fishing boat, which beat about the channel for four days on contrary winds, had carried her and the children out. But when she reached England she refused to get a short leave of absence for the purpose of looking for her. He crossed to England.

At that very time came the German drive toward Calais and the preparation for the Belgian resistance on the Yser. He received a telegram ordering him to rejoin his regiment at once. He did so, and he has been fighting ever since, and he has not seen her yet; but he has the consolation of her letters and of the fact that she is safe.

Then there is the life that runs underground—what a story that will be some day when the seal of secrecy is removed and one may tell it all!

I suspect that in these shut-in regions there runs an underground railroad where nations the underground road of the Civil War seem commonplace.

A man who traveled in Belgium on the regular channels has told me that he has heard a new rumor arise. It is the kind which the Germans make a business of suppressing.

Going to a town fifty miles away by a military automobile, he has found the rumor there ahead of him. How it came about he does not know, and the Germans would mightily wish like to know. Of the system by which a few vital letters get out of Belgium, of the system by which escaped prisoners pass the border in spite of guards and barbed wire barriers, I have heard something; but it would not be fair to my informants to tell just now.

HOW GERMAN SPIES WORK. Everyone knows that all the belligerent nations are employing spies. In fact, I myself have observed sequences of events which would lead to that conclusion. But Germany has before the war a system of espionage far larger and more elaborate than that of the allies, and there is good reason to believe that as a part of her thorough war preparation she planted spies in the trenches.

Some of the things which have happened can be explained on no other theory. Along the line, at least from Arras west, the system is apparently working so well that the Germans are making a joke of it. The allies do not keep men steadily in the trenches. They drop in and out, and there is good reason to believe that as a part of her thorough war preparation she planted spies in the trenches.

ALLEGED FAKER CAUGHT.

He is Charged with Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses on Advertising Scheme.
R. M. Sterling, charged with being a fake advertising solicitor, bilking the business firms of the city for advertising space in a fraudulent year book, was arrested yesterday, and charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.
According to the complaint issued by Assistant City Prosecutor Morton, Sterling claimed to represent the International Brotherhood of Railroad Employees and Brotherhood of Freight and Baggage Men of America. Representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Order of Railroad Conductors and the Order of Railroad Employees, complained to the City Prosecutor's office that no such organization as Sterling pretended to represent, was in existence, that it was an imposition.
The money-gathering feature of the scheme was the reported publication of a year book for the "Brotherhood," advertising space at so much an inch. A lusty price was set. Representatives of the real railroad employees' organizations estimate Sterling profited to the extent of several hundred dollars in commissions.
When taken to Central Police Station, Sterling said he had been employed by one Flavin, who was secretary of the organization, and who agreed to pay him 10 per cent. of all money he could get out of the business and professional persons.

He is a member of the Gallipoli Lodge and says if the Ohio lodges had even anticipated what was in store for them here that the whole State would have come.

"MISSION PLAY" POPULAR.
The Pacific Electric has extra cars on nearly all the important lines to care for the pleasure-seeking among the visitors. Extra cars on the San Gabriel line show that the Mission Play is popular. In fact, the attendance of Elks at each performance has averaged about 200 the past two days.

WHEN ONE BAND IS A CONTEST.

SOUTH DAKOTA PLAYS AGAINST ITSELF AND WINS.

Musical "Competition" Among the Elk Aggregation Shimmers Down to Single Organization, Owing to a Misunderstanding, but Cook's Corps will Get Started Today.

The Elk band contest that was scheduled for yesterday afternoon fell a little short in one respect, but the great crowd present to hear the music was entirely satisfied with the selections played by the Fourth Regiment Band of South Dakota, the only organization to show up. The other contestant, Cook's Band, of Denver, was represented by one man, their leader, G. H. B. Heale. Mr. Heale stated that he had not been notified in time to get his men together and requested that the judges suspend sentence until they had seen his band perform in this morning's parade.

As there was only one judge and George Goldsmith present, this request was unanimously agreed to by Mr. Goldsmith. The one judge, V. F. Arend, got lost in the crowd, but if he had heard the proposition, he most assuredly would have agreed to it. At least, that is what George said. The Fourth Regiment Band, led by Lieut. W. S. Peck, played wonderfully well, even without opposition. They marched to Central Park, where the contest was held, and made a very impressive showing. It seems that the band has adopted as mascot, Mrs. Lillian E. Snyder, late of Sioux Falls, S. D., and at present living in Los Angeles. Mrs. Snyder was present and cheered the boys on. She would hear no argument yesterday concerning other bands.

Others present who tried their best to make a contest out of a full-sized band and one leader were like Wentworth and William J. Brant, members of Los Angeles Lodge No. 99. No one seemed to know just who the other judges supposed to be present are, but it was rumored that Adolf Tandler and Alfred Hertz had been invited. Following the contest the South Dakota music makers made a tour of the city and incidentally charmingly serenaded The Times.

(At Home.) That the floating of the British war loan has had the effect of bracing up the markets of the United States was shown by the big rise in so-called war shares yesterday. The highest point ever recorded was made in Bethlehem Steel, American Can, General Motors and Republic Steel. United States was again wonderfully active. Sterling bills were reported at $100.

(Abroad.) Foreign selling of bonds was on a diminished scale and foreign exchange markets lost a trifle on offerings of commercial bills. South America shipped $1,300,000 in gold to the United States which was in the natural course of exchange. Little of it has been received from there since the beginning of the war, most of it going to London. The trade balance in the United States was $17,674,214. (For details see financial pages.)

JUST THE PLACE.

Dallas, Tex., wants the next Democratic National Convention. We need the motion. We cannot imagine a better place than this fine old southern city for the launching of a lost cause.

ESTABLISHED.

We see that New York has declared the independence of Ireland. Pretty soft, with an Irish policeman patrolling every block! In fact, we tremble to think what would become of the German army if Britain should claim all of her own from the New York police force.

PLAYTIME.

We see that the Stinson playground is not to be closed for the summer as heretofore reported. It should not be. Vacation is the very time the playgrounds are most needed. It is then that the children have the leisure for play and that they most need the out of doors.

WHERE CLEANLINESS IS NEEDED.

The city of Pittsburgh proposes to exercise a strict censorship over all magazines sold by news stands. We imagine that the director of public safety would perform a much finer service if he would devise some system whereby the covers of a magazine in Pittsburgh could be kept as clean as the reading matter they contained.

TWICE FORTUNATE.

It is a pleasure to note that a party of Harvard alumni and members of their families to the number of 600 persons are traveling by steamship from New York City to the two expositions and Los Angeles. We are glad, first, to think that 600 college graduates in any one city are capable of earning a living, and second, that anybody in the United States can afford a vacation at this time.

NOT SO DRY.

We smile when we hear about some of our lovely neighbor cities offering their hospitality to the Elks because it seems incongruous to think of an Elk in a dry town. This is not charitable on our part. No meadow can be all brook—neither Sunnyside, Cedarbrook nor Brook Hill. We haven't the slightest doubt that our visitors of the purple and white had a tremendous time both at Glendale and Pasadena. In fact, Los Angeles would not be so keen for the entertainment of this delightful and almost endless procession of conventions if it could not count on the help it gets from its sister cities.

DIPLOMATIC CIRCLES.

Some say the next note from the President of the United States to the Kaiser of Germany will be final. We don't know about that. There will be a final note, of course, on both sides some day, but diplomacy goes a long way to make a very short journey. You see it moves in wide circles that are gradually narrowed down and every time a circle is made some issue between the contending parties is thrown off with satisfaction to both parties. The bigger the trouble and the finer the diplomacy, the wider is the margin between the circles, but that first circle always takes a lot of territory. It is quite likely in this case that the one side began by asking more than it expected and the other side at first denied much that it intended to ultimately concede.

DOWN TO CASES.

When they want to race an automobile they strip it down to just what will make it go. All the trimmings are left in the garage. When they get through nothing is left of the car but wheels and frame and machine. If you want to go somewhere in this world you must do the same thing. You must give up superfluities and bypaths if you want money for a purpose. You must learn to do without a hundred little luxuries that are pleasant but not necessary. By stripping life down to what you need you will learn the first economy which is to give the world in every direction more than you spend in any direction. The second economy is to require little and to make no lavish effort, but to strike a balance between what is necessary and what is sought. The third economy is to find an exact balance on whatever plane your material life is pitched, reducing the whole to a minimum expense of your time and finer energies, in order that you may spend more of your time above the coarser elements of consciousness and find your existence among those splendid values beyond all material consideration. This is to find freedom and to walk in the light.

TRIBUTE TO CAESAR.

Right in the midst of the protestations of economy and retrenchment, emanating from the "Progressive" press bureau in Sacramento, comes a statistical bulletin issued by the Federal government giving the total, per capita and comparative cost of county government in every State in the Union. Page 35 of the report gives the governmental cost of the California counties, exclusive of State and municipal expense, as $46,013,485. This is more than $21,000,000 greater than that of any other State. The second is Ohio with an expense of $24,993,147.

Page 76 of the same report shows that the receipts from general property taxes of California counties is $34,825,081, or $19,000,000 more than that of Ohio, which is again the second State. The per capita rate for general property is $15.64 for California against an average rate for the United States, California included, of $3.29. Excluding California, the average for the rest of the United States is about $2 per capita.

And these figures are two years old. They are based on the California expense under the county government bills of 1911. Confronted by the figures of this report, Gov. Johnson signed in June thirty-nine county government bills, increasing still further pay rolls and salaries of thirty-nine California counties.

It seems incredible that the taxpayers of enlightened California should pay on an average five times as much for their county government as is paid by taxpayers of other States for similar service. It has been a habit with us to condone the suffering taxpayers of the benighted European monarchies, crushed under the awful burden of oppressive military budgets; but an inspection of Federal consular reports reveals that we pay a higher tax per capita for our county government and expense alone than those whom we pitied as suffering and oppressed pay for government, district and municipal taxes. If those old monarchies had attempted to levy a tax equal to our combined State, county and municipal rate Europe would have blazed red with revolutionary flames that she now burns as the crater of a world war.

We cannot excuse ourselves by alleging that our counties perform services that are rendered by the State elsewhere, for our per capita rate for State taxes is double that of the average American State. Neither can we justify our high rates by citing the amounts we expend on schools and highways. After excluding every dollar that we pay for both, our county rate is still double that of other States where both are included.

These are the actual conditions by which we are confronted. To quote the words of an eastern statistician: "Californiaans must be either dead easy or densely ignorant to put up with such a condition; it seems to be a mixture of nonchalance and unbelief. They imagine others pay as much; they are satisfied with their present property and they do not take the trouble to investigate."

Medical research has demonstrated that the first step towards a scientific treatment of a disease is to locate the seat of the disorder and to discover its true nature. A similar research into the tax problem of California counties strikes a trail that leads straight to the legislative and gubernatorial chambers at Sacramento.

California exercises a peculiar paternalism over its fifty-eight counties. The number of departments in each county, the number of employees in each of those departments and the rate of their pay are all fixed in county government bills which originate in and are passed by the Legislature, just as all general laws are passed. The theory of this form of paternalism was that the counties should be divided in general classifications, based on population, and that all the counties in each class should have identical pay rolls.

Ten classes were suggested when the county government amendment to the Constitution was proposed, but it was not so nominated in the act. Crafty "Progressive" politicians have given us fifty-eight classifications instead; and they have followed this with county government bills which boost the expense of the county departments in a "Progressive" ratio every two years. In nearly half the California counties the increase in the pay roll of the ten leading departments is more than double that of the entire pay rolls for those departments as shown in the 1909 Blue Book, the last issued under Republican rule. The increase was not all made this year; it has come on the installment plan, boosted "progressively" every two years, and the county government bills of this year are the highest of them all. The pay roll of ten departments of Kern county under a county government bill signed by Gov. Gillett was $22,000; that of the same department under Gov. Johnson's county government bill totals $105,000.

This county tax burden is all the more onerous to the private property owner in California for the reason that all the railroads, light and power companies, express companies and telephone companies are on the county free list, and that the banks are nearly so. These are all withdrawn from county taxation and reserved as sources of revenue for the State government, much as great parks and estates are reserved as crown lands in European and Asiatic monarchies.

Californiaans are famed world wide as good spenders; but they have heretofore enjoyed the distinction of demanding value received for their outlay. Meat, flour, vegetables, lumber and cement cost less in California than in the average eastern State; corporations operating east and west pay their employees no more than east of the great divide; but we have permitted a "Progressive" bureaucracy to fashion its tentacles, like a devilfish, upon our State and county governments until we pay twice as much for the first and five times as much for the second as the average American State. "Our 'Progressive' government is very dear to us of California," said a California woman politician in a recent eastern interview. When we consider that the combined "Progressive" State and county tax rate is $27 per capita, or about $54 for each bread-winner, we are inclined to agree with her that it is "dear" indeed.

The Illinois Legislature has passed a bill forbidding the erection of jails within 500 feet of a schoolhouse. Some folks are so careless, they build their jails almost any old place.

"Too Much Johnson."

THE MONROE DOCTRINE AND NEUTRALITY.

In 1823 it was rumored that the Holy Alliance intended to intervene in South America by aiding Spain to reconquer her American colonies. President Monroe believed that such a policy entered upon by the allied continental powers of Europe would be dangerous to the peace and safety of the United States, and in his seventh annual message, December 2, 1823, he inserted a paragraph stating that "We would not view any intervention for the purpose of oppressing the Central and South American states or controlling in any manner their destiny by any European power in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition towards the United States."

This declaration was at the time openly and actively indorsed by Great Britain, and the Holy Alliance thereafter relinquished any attempt to interfere in South or Central America. No considerable attempt was made by any European power to question the Monroe doctrine until Louis Napoleon, during our Civil War, sent Marshal Bazaine with a French army into Mexico to sustain Maximilian in his attempt to change that country from a republic to an empire, with the Austrian on its throne.

Against this Mr. Seward protested so vigorously that the French Emperor withdrew the French army from Mexico, and Juárez, with a good deal of secret aid in the way of arms and ammunition from the United States, overthrew and captured Maximilian, who was subsequently executed at Querétaro.

The next serious antagonism to the Monroe doctrine was threatened by England herself when she refused to arbitrate an alleged grievance in Nicaragua, constituted herself sole judge in her own case, decided it in her own favor and, with the shotted guns of her cruisers trained upon an unfortified and helpless town, extorted $75,000 from the slender treasury of Corinto. England might have gone further if Uncle Sam had not unofficially advised her that, although her piracy of money might be disregarded, she would not be suffered on any pretext to seize Nicaraguan soil.

During President Cleveland's second administration England made another effort to extend her South American holdings. She claimed as part of British Guiana the upper valley of the Essequibo, together with all the territory on the left bank of the river below the influx of the Repunim. The territory thus claimed contains as many square miles as the six New England States, with New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Ohio added.

Venezuela protested against being deplored of the fairest portion of her domain and appealed to the United States to protect her.

And the United States said to Great Britain, "If the Venezuelan territory to which you assert a claim really belongs to you, you may take it by force, if you can, and we will not interfere. But if it does not belong to you we will not suffer you to seize it and hold it by force of arms, because years ago we pledged our national honor to the doctrine that no American republic should—if we could prevent it—be robbed of its nationality or deplored of its territory by any European power. We never asked Europe to accept the Monroe doctrine as a part of international law, but we always asserted it as a doctrine that must be recognized in this hemisphere."

We did not claim to know whether the occupation by Great Britain of the upper valley of the Essequibo River was an invasion of Venezuela or not. We said, "That is a question which should be determined as a land suit between individuals is determined, not by the obsolete wager of battle, but by an impartial tribunal whose members shall hear witnesses and examine documents and make surveys. The United States will not concede that in determining her rights in Venezuela Great Britain may act as judge, jury, prosecutor, clerk and sheriff, may provide all the witnesses, interpret all the documents and furnish the surveys, the instruments, the chain-bearers and tape lines for the measuring. England is not now dealing with a bare-legged African chief or a purchasable Sultan. She must go into a court of nations with her claim. That court is called 'arbitration.' To such a court she has more than once submitted her boundary disputes with powerful nations—to such a court she can consistently, honorably and safely make submission of her controversy with Venezuela."

A settlement of the rights of Venezuela and Great Britain was effected without a resort to arms. That settlement was brought about largely because the controlling statement of England realized that Uncle Sam was not correctly represented in the prehistoric British drama as a person with abbreviated breeches and elongated coat, who was inspired mainly by a lust of dollars and moved mostly by a desire to violate the Eleventh Commandment. England awoke to a sudden appreciation of the fact that the defiant dispatch of Lord Salisbury shivered to nothingness the barriers that divided Republicans and Democrats and that in support of the Monroe doctrine every American capitalist would empty his strongbox, and every tramp would seek the nearest recruiting station.

The Monroe doctrine is not now immediately at issue. Europe has trouble enough at home without seeking it in the Western Hemisphere. But there is another question—a national and international question—of even greater consequence than the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine. It is the question which was fought out successfully by us with Great Britain one hundred years ago and in which our contention has, until now, been acquiesced in by all the maritime powers of the world. It is the right of neutral ships to freely navigate the seas without molestation from belligerents. It is the right of Americans to travel on the unarmed merchant ships of belligerents without incurring the danger of being murdered. This right we demand as a right and not as a privilege, and if Germany consults her own best interests she will accord it without conditions and without delay.

LARGE AND SMALL BILLS.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

There are rafts of Bills in town, ranging from the $1 bill to Bill Bryan. Met one of the high cards of the antlered good cheer. Like most of all the prong-horns he answers to the name of Bill. He exhaled good cheer and his face was as wide as a prize squash. "Well, Bill," I exclaimed, "it's up to me to be once more identified with your boisterous and beautiful herd."

"What's that?" said Bill in surprise. You want to be an Elk? Why, don't you know we can't make a good Elk out of a thin quality of veal? We're not as careless as we used to be. You've got to be a white man and capable of telling the truth before you can butt your way into our esteemed order. You better join the Uniformed Rank of Goats first and work your way up."

"I've been a goat for several years," answered I. "And if I can't qualify, none of your prong-horn scouts can."

"In any event," continued Bill, "a runt like you would never live through the initiation. You'd drown before the third initiation."

"Aw! that's all poppycock," retorted I. "I've heard that tremolo stuff before. Look at your Freddie Robinson. He isn't any bigger than a rubber boot and yet he's the king pin of the flock."

"Oh, well; that's different," explained Bill. "He's as tough as a horned toad. You couldn't run him down with the Sunset Limited. Throw him into the ocean and he'd float like a dried chip."

"Well, I'm just as tough as they make 'em," retorted I. "And, anyhow, you can't kid me about drowning. I never saw but two elks that didn't dodge water and they were both in the Bronx Zoo."

"Maybe a little real medicine might do you good," resumed Bill, but what do you want to be an Elk for, anyhow?"

"Oh!" said I, airily. "I just want to slosh around among the girls wearing a set of purple socks and a tie that looks like an eruption of Vesuvius. I want to walk up to the mahogany, put my foot on the rail and let out a yelp like a coyote. I want to carry a watch that will stop at 11 o'clock every night and I want a wet drink every seven minutes, whether the watch is running or not."

"Just as I thought," commented Bill. "You have about as much conception of the career of an Elk as a grasshopper has of the Talmud. You take two rumors and a knock and you make a story out of it. I bet you don't even know what R.P.O.E. stands for."

"Sure I do," said I, promptly. "It stands for lots of things. It stands for 'Bill Pays off Everybody.' If an Elk is in a dry town it means 'Blind Pigs Opened Easily.' When you're off with a bunch of scouts it stands for 'Buy Plenty of Everything.' If you go to church once a year the card says 'Big Parade on Easter.' If I have to sleep in the same room with a Dutchman and an Irishman it means 'Bring Peace on Earth.' If you are with a Los Angeles realty broker it represents 'Buy Property Out Easily.' Possibly it is 'Bull Pups Over Eat.' Some of you claim to be the 'Best People on Earth,' but, after all, you are only the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks."

"My stars!" exclaimed Bill. "Just listen to little Rollo and his catechism. Isn't he the child wonder? Somebody must have whisked that for you. You heard that on a phonograph. I'll bet the cigars. Say! you don't even know what the Elks stand for."

"They'll stand for a whole lot," argued I, "but they won't stand without hitching. An Elk can't help being a wild animal, even when he is tamed."

"I don't suppose you even know what the 11 o'clock dial means to an Elk," continued Bill.

"Oh! don't! It means that an Elk wants an hour's time to know when the 12 o'clock whistle blows. It takes him that long to get ready to quit."

"No," retorted Bill, with sarcasm. "It means that every good Elk is supposed to be in the blankets by 11 o'clock every night."

"Mostly piffle," interrupted I. "All the Elks I ever knew just commenced to brown at 11 o'clock. When they heard it click they would renege themselves on a hearty yelp of Scotch and then start out. If I caught up with them two days later I'd think I was running like a Democrat in a Tammany ward."

"All slander," said Bill, with a sigh. "And me who never had a drink or a smoke in my beautiful young life. You pink-eyed land pirate, do you think you could wear a set of antlers on that corrugated brow of yours?"

"I could wear almost anything once," said I, "except Sister Susie's skirt. But honest to goodness, I want to be an Elk so that people will think I am good-tempered and whole-souled, even when I am crippled up with rheumatism and lumbago. I want the kids to laugh and come out to meet me instead of hiding behind the fence until I get past. I want people to smuggle up and make room for me when I come in and I want 'em to sing out, 'Well, if it ain't Bill, the doggone old scout. I'll bet he's got a good one. Spit her out, Bill.' I want to play Santa Claus on Christmas and when they follow me to the bonfire I want the preacher to say: 'The world was a bit more cheerful and sorrow was sometimes eased through the life and ministrations of our careless but honorable friend who sleeps before us.'"

"Doggone you, I knew you was an Elk all the time," exclaimed Bill.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

SOLACE.

It little takes to heal the aches of people who are human; the song of bird, at day-break heard, will cheer a weeping woman; a kindly act performed with tact will make some man let his bitter, fretful smile melt into the smile of some disgruntled critic. Where'er I go I find that woe is always up and doing, and careworn chumps have doleful dumps, their little griefs pursuing. This view they gain from years of strain and stress and long endeavor, they seem to think that on the blink all things will be forever. But when I come I make things hum with joke and whiskered story; I always preach that life's a peach, the world all hunky-dory. And it beats all how gloom will fall, when anyone defies it; if you would scare away dull care, just show that you despise it. The things I say, though lame and gray, from almanacs collected make jaded men wear grins again and brace up the dejected. So every gent who's worth a cent should preach the gospel sunny, and take men's minds from sordid grinds and scratching after money.

McCarthy Plot to Ruin. (Continued from First Page.) continued. Loans were obtained from the Bank of Southern California. That bank was purchased or absorbed by the Globe Savings Bank, established by Mr. Elder and his associates.

HOW NOTES WERE ACQUIRED. Among the assets of the Bank of Southern California when it was taken over, Mr. Elder testified, were notes of the Planada Development Company aggregating $50,000 to $60,000.

McCarthy told Elder the total indebtedness of the Planada Company was $15,000. Mr. Elder said the amount was advanced to save Planada from bankruptcy. Later, Mr. Elder said, he found the indebtedness to be more than $200,000.

THE NEXT STEP IN MCCARTHY'S SCHEME. The next step in McCarthy's scheme to feather his nest was when he told Mr. Elder it would be for the latter's interest to buy the stock.

McCarthy then arranged to advance $50,000, taking an security a trust deed of the Investment Building. None of the money was used, Mr. Elder said. The Globe Savings Bank, with the aid of the investment company, was able to meet every demand.

THE CASE INVOLVING CITY AND COUNTRY TRAFFIC UP SHORTLY. Important court suits affecting the jitney business were begun in Police Court yesterday, in which the proprietors of the "Little Landers" stage, Mr. Spencer and S. W. Parmenter, face prosecution for violation of the new ordinance governing the jitneys.

MAKES STATEMENT. In reference to the suit of Alvah E. Davis, who is suing him and others to recover $10,583, alleged to have been paid in a Mexican land deal, John H. Berry issued a statement yesterday.

THE COMPLAINT WAS FILED MORE THAN a year ago. Mr. Berry said that though they were accessible at all times, he and one other defendant were not served with the papers in the case until six months after the filing of the complaint.

believing that more capable and efficient directors should be secured for the protection of the stockholders. Mr. Elder showed checks to prove that most of the money he had received for dividends had been turned back for the purchase of more stock.

Mr. Elder testified, "with two men. He said they were stockholders and we must buy their stock or, that is—well, he intimated rather than said exactly—that if we didn't, there would be trouble."

Then did you buy the stock? asked Mr. Lawler. "Yes, I bought the stock myself with these checks drawn on my own bank account and paid out of it. I think I gave one of these checks then and one a little bit later. Anyhow I bought the stock of both of them and these are the checks."

Mr. Elder said he felt certain at that time that if they elected directors chosen by Mr. Schoonover they would not be indicted. He refused, however, believing that more capable and efficient directors should be secured for the protection of the stockholders.

COAST TENNIS STARS ELIMINATE TWO INVADERS

NORRIS WILLIAMS ALONE REMAINS OF EASTERNERS.

Church Puts up a Pitiful Showing Against Griffin and Mathey Falls Before the Dash of Strachan—National Champion Defeats Lyn Murray After Three Terrific Sets in Which He was Forced to the Limit.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—R. Norris Williams II of Harvard University, champion tennis player of the United States, defeated R. Lindley Murray of Oakland today after three sets of the hardest kind of fighting. The scores were 6-4, 7-9 and 9-7.

ALL ALONE.
Williams is the only eastern singles player remaining in the Panama-Pacific Exposition championship tournament. G. M. Church of Princeton University having gone down earlier in the day before Clarence Griffin of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-1, and Dean Mathey, also of Princeton, succumbing to the attack of John R. Strachan of San Francisco, after two hard-fought sets, 6-4, 6-3.
In the men's doubles, G. M. Church and Dean Mathey, representing Princeton, had too much dash and drove too hard for Clarence J. Griffin and Sam Hardy of San Francisco, who played a careful game. Church and Mathey won, 6-4, 6-4.
GOOD STUFF.
The match between Williams and Murray was the best of the day. Williams' coolness and clever guerdishness was almost offset by the determined fight of Murray, who worked hard for every point. The service of each player was severe, and both cut off many returns by doubling to the net and cleverly placing the ball.
It was at placing the ball out of reach that Williams excelled chiefly and Murray was kept racing over the court, while the champion stood close to the net and smashed the ball first to one side and then to the other.
After Williams had captured the first set, 6-4, Murray annexed the second, 9-7, but lost the match, 9-7.
COOL.
The contest between Clarence Griffin and G. M. Church was won by Griffin largely because of his cool, heady playing, and the many foot-faults called against Church, which seemed to make him and spoil his game.
John R. Strachan, California champion, was too strong for Dean Mathey, whom he beat down by drives and smashes. Mathey served many double faults.
Play will be continued tomorrow.
Summary:
Women's singles—Mrs. H. A. Niemeyer, Pacific Coast champion, of San Francisco, beat Mrs. P. Day of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-0.
Miss Marjorie Thorn of San Francisco beat Mrs. W. Tusher, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-3.
Men's singles—Clarence Griffin, San Francisco, beat G. M. Church, Princeton University, 6-1, 6-1.
R. Norris Williams of Harvard University, national singles champion, beat R. L. Murray of Stanford University, 6-4, 7-9, 9-7.
John R. Strachan of San Francisco, California singles champion, defeated Dean Mathey of Princeton University in hard-fought straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.
Men's doubles—William Johnston and John Strachan of San Francisco beat L. A. Sanchez and D. P. Hardy of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-1.
Marvin Griffin and Phillips Ebbes of San Francisco beat Mel and L. Rosenberg of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-3.
Morgan Fittrell, San Francisco, and Ward Dawson, Los Angeles, beat Roland Roberts, San Francisco, and H. V. D. Johns, Stanford University, 6-4, 6-4.
W. N. Ambrose and F. Bass beat P. Carr and N. G. Welburn, all of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-3.

FORD WINNER AT TRAP SHOOT.

SPENCER MAKES REMARKABLE SCORE.

Shatters Hundred and Fifty-nine Clay Pigeons Without a Miss. Mrs. Ada Schilling of San Francisco Makes Score that Passes Most of the Men.

Ford was presented with the Interstate Association trophy by the Los Angeles Gun Club at Venice yesterday. He made the highest scores of all the amateurs at the trap shoot. One hundred and ninety-two out of the 200 clay pigeons lay on the ground shattered when he puffed the smoke out of his shot gun's barrel for the last time. No amateur was anywhere near him.
Bob Bungay is also the proud possessor of another Interstate Association trophy, because he had the second highest score with 144. But Bungay had to shoot for his mark. At 4 o'clock it was discovered that Hoes had the same mark. A shoot-off followed with every man on the ground lined up behind the two joelers them Bungay won easily, shattering fifteen out of the extra twenty, to Hoes's ten. Hoes was the darkest of dark horses. When it came time for the shoot-off, everybody was asking, "Who the deuce is Hoes?" Everybody was agreed, however, that Bungay would win, because Bob was a wonder at extra-inning stuff.
NERVOUS.
Hoes was plainly nervous. Bungay took it very cool. When Hoes was hopelessly out of it, Bungay began missing. Every time his opponent missed after the first ten, he missed. The other gun men immediately began arguing. The question was: Is Bob playing with Hoes or is he not? Some argued that he was off color, because it was dangerous to take a chance. The others gave them the "go on." But Bungay was smiling all the time and laughing when it was all over.
Spencer, the professional from St. Louis, made a remarkable score of 196. He shattered 159 birds without a miss. That was something to make everybody sit up and take notice. Incidentally Spencer holds the world's record for shattering clay pigeons without missing. Once he brought down 515 without seeing one sail away untouched.
Mrs. Ada Schilling of San Francisco was another feature. Her score was 177. She only weights ninety pounds and uses a twelve-gauge pump gun. She is the "dwarf champion" shot of the world and able to show up most of the men any day in the week. She is tanned as a berry from her open-air life. The shoot at San Diego has peeled her nose beautifully, which doesn't worry her in the least.
Most of the easterners complained of the intense light and sore eyes. It is stronger than they have been accustomed to shoot against. Before the day was over it had them blinking. Most of them wore smoke glasses, but even these did not help.
Pferrmann, the amateur handicap champion of the Pacific Coast, made 181. That is good for most, but bad for him. He was disappointed because he wore brand new smoke glasses, guaranteed to improve his marksmanship. He says he will wear a lucky ring today.

WHITE HAS A TOUGH JOB WITH MILBURN SAYLOR.

BOSTON, July 13.—Charley White of Chicago caught a Tartar to-night in Young Saylor of Indianapolis. The fight went to a draw in twelve rounds and the decision was highly unpopular. The referee, Billy Roche of New York, was booed and jeered, for the fight, according to ring-side experts, was Saylor's most of the way.
White has been a Boston idol in every other appearance here, but to-night the crowd was all for the Indianapolis man. He had a clever crouch and shift that enabled him to duck White's left that has been the undoing of other boxers here. And Saylor landed hard and often himself with a ring swing, once cutting open White's left eye with it.

In eight rounds Saylor had easily the best of it and White justly could be termed the better in four.
It was a wallowing fight all the way through. Most of Saylor's attacks were on the body. Usually he hooked a left to the liver and followed it with a wide right swing to the head. White had a hard time ducking. At other times he started with a left shift that frightened White, and after taking a few heavy punches he kept backing away from it. White was puzzled because of the Hoosier's change of style all the way.

JACK NESS SURPASSES MIGHTY COBB'S RECORD.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Jack Ness, Oakland's first baseman, set a new world's record today in the game with Salt Lake by hitting safely in his forty-first consecutive game. Ty Cobb held the title with a record of safe hits in forty games running.
Ness knocked a "Texas leaguer" in the fourth inning, made first, but went out on his way to second.
Ness captured a similar title for the Pacific Coast League when he hit safely in his twenty-ninth consecutive game. He also leads the Coast players with a batting average of .387, made in ninety-seven games, 385 times at bat, during which he made sixty-two runs.
Ness was born, raised, educated and learned to play ball in Chicago. He entered the professional ranks with the Madison (Wis.) team in 1908. Detroit scouts saw him and he was drafted, but the rough edges on his small league playing caused him to be framed out to Williamsport, in the Tri-State League. He stayed there until the fall of 1910, when Detroit recalled him.
Ness played with Detroit until June, 1911, when Hugh Jennings sent him to New Bedford in the New England League for finishing touches, which he spent two seasons in acquiring.
Oakland drafted Ness at the close of the 1912 season and he reported two years ago.

HUN-BEAR FOOTBALL GAME IS AGAIN A POSSIBILITY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
CLAREMONT, July 13.—The manager of the Pomona Huns has announced that he is going to try to sign up the California Bears for a game on October 20.
Manager Stroud of the California eleven is strong for a game with last year's champions, and there will be no trouble from that end of the line. The greatest obstacle that will have to be overcome by the Pomona management before the game is definitely scheduled is faculty opposition, as the Pomona powers are very much adverse to allowing the Sageshens to tackle too heavy a schedule for next year.
Whether the U.S.C.-California agreement, whereby the Bears are not allowed to meet any other team except the Trojans within a hundred miles of Los Angeles, will prevent the game from being scheduled is a matter of some doubt. According to the ## LITTLE BEAR TO BE OPENED.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 13.—Little Bear Valley will be thrown open to fishermen on August 1, and free fishing will be allowed for a mile and a half extending westward along the south shore from a point about 150 yards from the dam.
Before the opening date, Edwards and Knight, who have leased the grounds, will have finished fencing the strip and constructing temporary buildings for the resort. A small charge will be made for parking automobiles within the reserve and for the hire of boats for fishing. The public will have access to shore fishing without charge.
This arrangement is the result of a three-cornered agreement among the San Bernardino County Trout Association, the Arrowhead Reservoir and Power Company, owners of the property and the lease and Edwards and Knight, and means the end of the injunction action of the Arrowhead Company, which recently secured in the Federal Court a temporary injunction restraining fishing in the lake.

GIANTS YANK DOWN CUBS, 4-8.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] NEW YORK, July 13.—New York won an uphill fight against Chicago and pulled the Cubs out from St. Louis by beating them, 4 to 3. The Giants made only three hits on Humphries until the eighth inning when they reduced a three-run lead to one run. In the ninth inning the visitors faltered badly, and with bases full Brainerd, a pinch hitter, drove in two runs, winning the game. ## CINCI BREAKS DODGERS, 5 TO 3.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] CINCINNATI, July 13.—Cincinnati broke Brooklyn's winning streak today, winning a pitchers' battle between Schneider and Pfeffer by 5 to 3. The Brooklyn defense went to smash at a critical period, errors helping the Reds to most of their runs. Grob's triple and Whelan's error scored the first run, and four hits, with a wild throw by Miller, gave the visitors three runs in the third. League Leaders Make Three Double Plays.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] CHICAGO, July 13.—Only thirty Athletics faced Pitcher Scott today while Chicago pounded out seven runs in the first two innings off Crowell and won, 7 to 0. Three double plays by the White Sox infield wrecked the Philadelphia openings up to the seventh when Lajoie's two-base hit and McInnis' single put two Athletics on the lines for the only time in the game. Scott fanned the three pinch hitters Mack sent up. Knowlson, who worked the last six innings for Philadelphia, allowed only two hits. Score:

INDIANS SPLIT WITH RED SOX.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] CLEVELAND, July 13.—Cleveland and Boston divided a double header today, Boston taking the first, 7 to 3, Cleveland the second, 6 to 5. Errors allowed Boston's victory while Chapman's single, Graney's sacrifice and Kirtle's single accounted for Cleveland's winning tally. Wild throw by Mitchell gave Boston its five runs in the second contest. Score:

ELEVEN HORSES IN HANDICAP RACE.

SUBURBAN CLASSIC TO BE RUN ON BELMONT PARK TRACT THIS AFTERNOON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] NEW YORK, July 13.—Out of thirty-two entries eleven horses are expected to start in the classic suburban handicap at one mile and a quarter tomorrow. The race this year will be run over the Belmont Park under the auspices of the Empire City Racing Association as it was two years ago when H. P. Whitney's Whisk Broom III, carrying 150 pounds with Jockey Joe Notter riding, won, establishing a record of 2 minutes flat.

JOHNSON FALLS BEFORE BROWNS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] ST. LOUIS, July 13.—Boehling won the first game of a double header for his team from St. Louis today, 2 to 1; then Walter Johnson fought a losing pitchers' duel with Wellman and the Washingtonians were shut out. Score:

BEAVERS TO BOUNCE TWO.

PORTLAND, July 13.—It was learned here today that Walter McCredie, manager of the Portland Coast League team, would release two players this week. One will be Bobby Keefe, right-hand pitcher, and the other probably will be an outfielder. It has been rumored Walter Doane, who has not been in the game regularly for some weeks, will be the one to go.

Keefe came to Portland a free agent this spring, after getting a release from the Rochester International team. Keefe, according to McCredie has plenty of "stunt" but has not been able to get under way this season.

WESTERN GOLF ENTRIES CLOSE.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY-THREE TO PLAY FOR TITLE.

Pacific Coast Entries in Mail to Well List.—Prominent Players from All Over West are Entered. Eleven Teams to Compete for Olympic Trophies.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] DETROIT, July 13.—New York and Detroit won and lost today, the Tigers taking the first game, 3 to 2 and the Yankees the second, 10 to 3. Cleveland was in fine form in the first contest, allowing only four hits, two of these combined with two errors in the eighth, giving the visitors their two scores. In the second inning of this game, Crawford, first up, tripled the ball delivered to him for a home run. Five Detroit pitchers were used in the second game and Daus was the least effective. The Tigers got away with a good lead, but New York tied it up and won out in the seventh on three singles, a double, a three-bagger and a sacrifice hit. Score:

BOSTON RED SOX LOOK AS STRONG AS IN 1912.

Team of that Year was Great for Only One Season. Present Outfit is Splendid Combination of Experience and Youth—Pitching Staff One of the Best, and Outfield is Second Only to Detroit's.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THE Boston Red Sox, as some with sensitive memories will recall, was a pennant in 1912, and like the championship of this lowly world. Boston clubs have a long history of conducting themselves in the way. The latest edition of this old trait are the Sox, who have recently been in the public eye, and seem to be just after two years away from the pennant. Still, few of us are inclined to take a critical squint at the club, or note the changes which have taken place since the Red Sox of 1912.

It is not the Red Sox of 1912, but the Sox of 1915, who are the ones to watch. The Sox of 1912 were great for only one season, and their pitching staff was one of the best. The Sox of 1915 are a different team, and their pitching staff is one of the best. The Sox of 1915 are a different team, and their pitching staff is one of the best. A few uncensored remarks concerning—

Charlie Chaplin.

By Leepson Bownes.

I am not a bit surprised to learn that the censors took one long look at Charlie Chaplin's latest effort, "The Woman," and warned the picture houses to take it off or have it removed by the police. Not that I think this latest effort is especially worthy of condemnation, though it certainly is about as vulgar as any decent person could be expected to look at, but because it shows the truth of my assertion made some time ago that Chaplin cannot do the best work of which he is capable when he tries to do the work of several men at once.

His Capabilities. I firmly believe that Charlie Chaplin, properly directed, is the funniest man on the screen today. I also believe that about one more picture of the type of "By the Sea" or "Work" or "The Woman" will effectually eliminate the rapidly dwindling Chaplin craze.

Chaplin's first comedies, which he directed himself, and of which he was also the author, were screamingly funny. Instead of confining himself to slapstick stuff, at which he is not the best by any means, Chaplin took plots which were in themselves funny and then helped them out by a lot of screamingly humorous subtle antics.

All Slapstick. With his meteoric rise to fame, Chaplin has gradually dropped his subtle stuff and his good plots, and has simply taken it for granted that the plot and nothing else counted but himself. His pictures have simply become a series of electric rough-house affairs, in which vulgarity has been coming more and more pronounced.

Chaplin couldn't get along without the vulgar comedy, it would be hard to blame him for the use of it, but when a man is able to amuse the public without becoming in any way offensive, it is a sad thing to see him gradually using more and more of the rough stuff.

Has the Ability. Charlie Chaplin has brains and a good deal of them. He did not recognize Blank in his own clothes. "Is that so?" replied Blankship absently. "Yes, it's not only so, but I hope it won't happen," replied the stranger, with some uplift. "If Howard gets that club it will be all off. The Oaks will simply run away from the rest of this bunch."

San Francisco is believed to have made a grievous mistake when it turned Lefty Liefeld loose last winter. At the time it was hinted that Liefeld wanted too much of this world's goods to pitch for the Seals, but the chances are that it was not a question of money, but the fear that Lefty wouldn't be able to deliver this season. Consequently, Liefeld, being free, caught on with St. Paul, and has been pitching for that member of the "twin towns" to beat the band. It is a dull week when he doesn't win a couple of games.

When Liefeld was turned adrift, it left the Seals with only two south-paws—Hub Pernoll and Artie Benham, a mere shaver. Benham lacked experience. Pernoll flunked, and San Francisco was left flat on its back as far as left-handers were concerned. There have been times when Liefeld would have come in mighty handy.

AUTO CLUB SLEUTHS GET TRIO OF AUTO THIEVES.

ELIZA Hayes, Robert Noonan and Zike Jones, believed to be the "Invincible three" of the so-called Fagin gang of motor-bandits which has stolen and stripped scores of automobiles belonging to local motorists, were taken into custody early yesterday morning following one of the most sensational series of robberies reported in California during recent years.

Stepping from the pages of Dickens' Oliver Twist, Zike Jones and his companions, the man known as Eliza Hayes, of 948 E. Twelfth street, and Robert Noonan, of 808 E. Thirtieth street, have raided the country side from Santa Paula to Sixth and Main in their depredations on automobiles parked by their owners.

But as in Remington's poem, "the law rode forth and caught them" in the guise of the Automobile Club of Southern California and its Theft Bureau, represented by Detective J. W. Powell, and the police department of Los Angeles, represented by Detective Ervin.

Nabbed in the act of stripping a big motor-car belonging to George H. Rogers, of 2348 W. Thirty-first street, in a lonesome cove at Ninth and River streets, the "Invincible three" surrendered their liberty all because of state license number 79431. This number originally belonged to A. H. D'nap of Santa Paula, whose car the men now in custody stole and disposed of.

In their recklessness, they mounted the number on the car driven by them, and with this thread of a clue the Auto club and police officials traced them to the lonely "graveyard" on the river.

Hidden under a tangle of weeds and brush, the detectives found tires, tools and parts which were easily identified as belonging to the machines standing near-by, which in turn, was identified as the automobile which was stolen from G. H. Rogers from in front of the Burbank Theater. At midnight the men now in the city jail were found working silently on the car, taking it down piece by piece. It was then they were gathered in.

That there can be no doubt but what these three have been active in the depredations which have resulted in the theft of more than $500,000 in automobiles in Southern California during the past five months is the belief of Auto club officials. It is this gang which the club, in its service to members and the motoring public in general, has been fighting to obliterate. While the elimination of the so-called "Invincible three" will do much to break up the theft actions, reinforcements in this new type of thievery are expected from certain eastern cities during the summer, as the increase in the number of automobiles to be sold in the late summer and early fall is predicted as being unusually large.

Secretary Mitchell of the Automobile club yesterday issued another warning to all automobile drivers in regard to parking and locking their machines. Machines should be parked near a light, and marks of identification should be placed on all tires and frames.

Detectives will continue to work during the week on the "drive" instituted by the club against the thieving gang, and more arrests are predicted for the near future.

AT THE STAGE DOOR

John Emerson's new farce, "Step Lively," will probably follow his play "The Conspiracy," which goes on at the Burbank next week.

"Step Lively" has only a plotlet, declares Mr. Emerson, who says that the six-cylinder, high-voltage, stamped-and-riveted plot is now passing.

"The picture plays have stolen all the plots," said Mr. Emerson. "The only plays left to the stage are the 'brow stuff, revues and laughs, either with or without music."

Crime Play.

"The Conspiracy" ran for a year in New York. It is a crime play and deals with police conditions. Mr. Emerson says that he "committed" the play about the time Charles Becker committed his crime, and that curiously enough the play goes on at the Burbank the same week that Becker is to be executed.

Sherlock Stuff.

The role of the old author crime specialist, played by Mr. Emerson in "The Conspiracy" was taken from life.

"Winthrop Phillips, a writer of detective stories and Fireside Companion tales, was the original," said Mr. Emerson. "He lived in a funny little old tumble-down house in Greenwich, New York, and he used to figure out how all the big crimes were committed. Every once in a while he'd bring the right solution of a mysterious murder to the police. I make up the character exactly as Phillips looked, and even wear an old suit of his clothing. (Yes, after fumigation.) On the opening night of the play in New York Phillips sat in a box proud as Punch, and I naturally wanted him to feel he deserved some credit for the play."

Sleep-Haters' Union.

Next week Mr. Emerson joins the Sleep-Haters' Union. For why? He will work all day out at the Reliance studio on his new photoplay, "The Scarlet Band," and at night will play at the Burbank in "The Conspiracy." Upon going home he will work on his farce, "Step Lively," and after that will spend all of three hours in slothful slumber.

New Pencil-Pusher.

Eddie Lewis, who will play the part of the young reporter in "The Conspiracy," is looking about for local color. He asked himself to carry a large tablet or a stick with pencil tied to it, should he write on his cuff, or shouldn't he carry any scenery at all? He says he was a cub reporter on an Arizona paper once, but it was one of those papers where the editor also "kicked press" while the printer's devil went round collecting the eggs and cabbage due on subscriptions, and where the editor always kept his own epitaph set up and wrote his epitaphs with a pen while he cocked his gun with the other.

Isabelle's New Due.

Isabelle Leve, who played the "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" at the Mason last fall, and who is cousin to the newest matinee idol on the Rialto, will appear in a new play next season, with a plot somewhat similar to "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," in which she starred successfully during one season.

"Top" Letty.

There is a quorum of Elks present at "So Long Letty" every night.

What Next?

A theatrical chronology: A.D. 1199, "Everyman." A.D. 1912, "Everywoman." A.D. 1915, "Everybody" (Hippodrome next week.) All of which leads us to hope that in the near future eastern managers will send to the Coast "everything" instead of "anything."

As Others See Him.

Acting in response to a personal invitation from Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film Company, Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, Jr., yesterday afternoon visited Universal City, where they were initiated into the "mysteries" of motion-picture production.

The party was given a welcome by President Laemmle, Manager H. P. Cantfield, Director-General Henry McCrae and Otis Turner, and the cow-boys fired a salute. The visitors made a tour of the grounds and expressed themselves as much interested in the mammoth plant.

Mr. Bryan's party posed for a picture.

Terpsichore on Job.

La Lole Fuller comes to the Mason next week, and will appear with her company of lovely girls in the wonderful mirror dances and fire dances which made her famous.

A symphony orchestra accompanies the Fuller production.

Monkey Business.

H. Rey, who owns Little Nap, the Orpheum wonder monkey, took the animal into a cheap restaurant yesterday for a meal. But Little Nap was so disgusted at the table manners of a near-by diner, that he refused to partake of his meal and left in disgust.

When asked concerning this press-agent story, Little Nap did not deny it.

Marjorie's Loveliness.

Marjorie Rambeau's beauty has undergone a test in "Miracle Mary." She appears in the staid garb of the Salvation Army.

She need not now be afraid even of the pantaleote styles.

Light Fantastic.

Senia and Adolph, the Russian dancers who appeared at the Pantages a short time ago with the Great Golden Troupe, are in the city, and are to dance at the French celebration at Shrine Auditorium today.

They are to dance at the San Diego exposition next week, and will later appear on the Pantages circuit.

Maybe They Could.

What they say they could do if they were out of a job:

Louis Benson: In constant physical training; would promote prize fights; now has Kid Corrigan in training.

Edmund Lowe: Could sort peaches. May be taken either way.

Grace Travers: Can cook better than her $40-a-month Jap.

Lillian Elliott: Could sincerely

Classy little artist.

Frances White, who is making a hit with her singing and dancing in "So Long Letty" at the Morosco Theater this week.

wash from the practice she has had in "Kindling."

John Ivan: Once tended bar for a week in Alaska, when he was broke.

Says that this experience at the bar is what makes him so successful as the judge in "Miracle Mary."

Marjorie Rambeau: Wants to be a motion-picture director.

Walter Catlett: Dancing master.

Sidney Grant: Once drove the horses in "Ben Hur" and believes he could get a job in a stable.

Blanche Craven: Could make other cabaret singers look like a 50-cent shirt waist after a hard day's wash.

New Actor-Maker.

Mr. Franklyn Underwood has taken over the directing of plays at the Burbank.

Mr. Underwood staged the New York production of "His Son" and "Help Wanted." He has some vigorous ideas in regard to the game.

Real Stuff.

Clune's Broadway is introducing a novelty to the Elks this week, showing pictures of them each night, in the events which took place during the day. This is proving a decided attraction, the Elks and their friends packing the house for almost every performance.

The films are put out as an added attraction to the pro-lidy.

gramme of the Sunset Weekly, the reel newspaper of Southern California.

Elks Like It.

The New Orleans Elks were at the "Mission Play" yesterday afternoon, 150 strong. They declared that they wouldn't have missed the performance for $5.

The New York Elks will be out this afternoon, the New England Elks tonight.

By the same token Philadelphia baseball patrons realized long before Mack announced it that the Athletics club did not want to win the pennant this year, and that getting rid of practically all the high-priced players was designed not only to save money, but to make sure that the team could not win. This has made the games played by the Athletics this year a mere farce, a travesty on baseball.

PHILADELPHIA FANS ARE JUMPING ON CONNIE MACK.

Wrecking of Famous Baseball Machine Meets with Disfavor—Crowds Die Out at Shibe Park—Athletic Boosters Hate to See Their Team Made Goat for Sake of League—Writer Swings the Flail.

CONNIE MACK is not leading the easiest existence in the world. The wrecking of a championship ball team does not please Philadelphia fans a little bit. They do not like the drop of the Athletics from the top to the bottom. A. M. Gilliam, sporting editor of the Philadelphia Record, fires this heavy-loaded shell at Connie Mack:

So finally Connie Mack feels called upon to make some explanation as to the why and wherefore of his policy in breaking up the most powerful baseball machine of modern times. The long overdue burst of confidence seems to have been wrested from him, not because he gives a rap what the public thinks of his action, but because he does care how these actions are taken by the public.

Had the crowds at Shibe Park been anywhere near as large as they were last season he very likely would have allowed the public to continue groping in darkness with never a thought of offering a word of enlightenment; but if the people are going to be so unreasonable as to say away just because sensible as to stay away just because they cannot see the wisdom of his wholesale retrenchment policy that has made a tall order out of a champion team, then he realizes that it is time to offer an excuse. Connie is pretty good at making excuses.

COLLINS WINS HIMSELF OUT.

The fact that the Chicago White Sox are already working on velvet in the $15,000 deal for Eddie Collins—$10,000 paid for his release (according to report) and $5,000 annual salary—would seem to refute the argument that it pays to be cheap, particularly when this thriving business at Comiskey's ball grounds is compared with that at Shibe Park. With Collins in the line-up the White Sox have jumped into the lead in the American League race and promise to hold it to the end, proving that the money paid for Collins was well invested.

The Chicago "fans" turn out in force because it is apparent that Comiskey is doing all he can to give them a winning team.

By the same token Philadelphia baseball patrons realized long before Mack announced it that the Athletics club did not want to win the pennant this year, and that getting rid of practically all the high-priced players was designed not only to save money, but to make sure that the team could not win. This has made the games played by the Athletics this year a mere farce, a travesty on baseball.

Bulgarian Atrocity in London.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)

The frequent appearance of the word Bulgarian and the speculation to what part that country may yet play in the great war has brought back an anecdote of the late William Ewart Gladstone. An English traveler was visiting the great man. When he was leaving Mr. Gladstone, with old-fashioned courtesy, followed him out into the hall and helped him on with his overcoat, a peculiar garment of brown camel hair with a bear-skin lining.

"Where on earth," asked Mr. Gladstone, "did you get this extraordinary coat?"

"I bought it in Bulgaria," said the traveler.

"Humph!" said Mr. Gladstone, "I've talked a great deal about Bulgarian atrocities, but I never expected to see one of them in London."

WAR SHARES AT TOP NOTCH.

UNITED STATES STEEL IN AGAIN MOST ACTIVE STOCK WHILE CAN AND WESTINGHOUSE COMES NEXT IN VOLUME OF OUTPUT—FOREIGN SELLING OF BONDS LAGS.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The so-called war shares, together with allied industrial and equipment, comprised the bulk of the trading today. High-est prices ever recorded were scored by Bethlehem Steel at 17 1/2; American Can at 5 1/2; New York Air Brake at 10 1/2; General Motors at 17 1/2; Studebaker at 8 1/2; and Republic Steel at 10 1/2.

Other correlated issues made gains of 2 to 4 points, and American Coal Products added another 1 1/2 points to its recent meteoric ascent, all of which it later relinquished. United States Steel was again the most active stock, being in demand at steady throughout the day.

Foreign selling of bonds was again the market's trend that such usual favorites as Reading, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper were relatively inactive. Prices reacted from their best in the final hour, with some heavy losses. Total sales amounted to 617,000 shares, the most active session in almost a fortnight. Foreign exchange market reflected in a measure the success of the new British war loan, sterling bills being distinctly firmer, though losing a trifle later on offerings of commercial bills. That railroad tonnage is beginning to move upward was reflected in the latest statement of idle cars as of July 1, showing a decrease in the surplus of such equipment of almost 25,000 cars compared with the preceding month. This favorable condition was partly offset by a ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission which suspended rate increases in structural steel between Chicago and other trading points. Foreign selling of bonds was on a diminished scale today, but a large part of the trading was in United States Steel. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,800,000. United States bonds were unchanged.
